For years I have prayed and tried to understand what is my relationship to black Americans, and those of the Black Hebrew Israelites. I have been in their presence for quite some time and have been in the midst of black Hebrews for 10 years now, even though I have been Ethnic Hebrew all my life. My family coming and immigrating in the USA starting in 1885 from the Sephardi Jewish family of Italy, after being expelled from the Italian regime and being indigenous to the Palestinian Hebrews before 1948. My relationship with the black Hebrew Israelites have not been so warm and has been shaky these 10 years. I have never fully understood why I have continued to be in their midst, warning them, challenging them, and many times teaching and elevating many of them, even though I have sided with the World In thoughts that they are cult. I, as well as many others, over the years since graduating from Rabbinical school have made it clear, that as Jewish-Israelites from the East, we have very little in common with black Hebrew Israelite beliefs and lifestyle, in the same manner we have little in common with other gentile religions and cultures like Christianity. But why after having those beliefs about these people, am I still in their midst? Why do some love me and seek me for guidance, while others maintain a strong hatred of me, as an enemy in war?.....

I could never understand this, and because of my many times unsympathetic and divisive attitude towards them, I have found myself not being very effective in helping them in much anything, as whole. I, as a Doctor and healer, have very few, if any, as my clients, as a teacher, I find I have more European gentiles and other populations who seek to adopt my teachings and wisdom, than those of the black Hebrews and African Americans. Not many have invested into our works, our teachings, our books or audios, or anything we have established to raise up and teaching anyone who is of Hebrew-Jewish Origin and neither have I really invested into them. So then, once again, what is the purpose...?

Many themselves both Hebrew Israelites and gentile alike, have asked, well then why and how can you lead a people whom you disdain and have a hatred for? My response is, I never hated them as a people, I have always hated to see them follow after certain things that are deemed destructive in nature and a stumblingblock to any Hebrew progress or progress for any group of people. I even wrote a very blunt, and seemingly harsh letter, on this issue of hatred towards their beliefs. But it was never about them personally. The Truth is, deep down inside, I have some type of tough love for them, and I never really understood why? I mean, how could I apply anything about Moses leading the children of Israel out of Egypt, to a People I know most likely are Not Israelites. And I have always maintained that only a small portion, likely between 1-4% of African American would even be close to some Hebrew origins. So then, If am a Kohan(a priest), and yes I am a bonifide, Middle Eastern, Mizrahi Jewish priest, then my job is to lead and teach Hebrew right? Well yes, sort of!!! What does that mean? Well in our sacred eastern scriptures, it speaks of a priest and priesthood in the last days that would multiply and draw the Nations/gentiles unto Elah and Israelites would be diminished through ignorance(Testament of Levy) and that the people would be returned unto the land of Eden. What did I get from that? That the Levitical Priests in the last days, would have a responsibility to Leading the gentiles and Israelites alike into righteousness, and that we are no longer restricted to just our people as leaders. Well once again. What does that mean for my seemingly horrible relationship with Black Hebrew Israelites?

Well after Elah kept drawing me to them, as I tried to distance myself from them, he began to show me, piece by piece, what my purpose is in regards to the Black Hebrew Religion and African Americans. He began to show me that blood, DNA and ethnic origins is the determining factor of how we identify peoples. If you want to be re-connected to the Native American Tribes as an Indian, you have to show and prove your relationship physically. If you want to be considered apart of any bonifide ethnic group, you have to show some type of historical, blood and physical ties to this group.. Yes anyone can say they are so and so, but the proof is in the pudding. Your skin color has nothing to do with who you are. Plenty of people have assumed that I am African American, when in truth I am middle eastern, due to ignorance of culture, ethnic groups and races. But Who you are have everything to do with rooting and grounding yourself in self identity so that you can heal, restore yourself and then grow into your purpose and plan Elah has for your life and for your people. Being disconnected from your roots, is like a plant disconnected from the soil and environment in which they are to grow. Eventually they wither and die. African Americans are a dying breed. They have the highest rates of disease and illness, family dysfunction, STD's, crime rates, imprisonments etc in ratio to population than any other known population in the world? Why such genocidal statistics? Well for one, the social, spiritual and health issues are not the problem, it's the symptoms that happens as a result of an underlying cause. That underlying problem/cause is Ethnic and cultural disconnection and ethnic alianation.

Over the past 100 years they have tried every method to relieve themselves of that inner emptiness to only find themselves more disconnected and more socially ill and divided. They have tried Islam, Hebrew-Jewish culture, Egyptian religions, various African cultures, christianity(which most inherited through forced conversions alongside Jewish slaves), Buddhism and many other religions and sometime outright atheism.. and theres absolutely nothing wrong with adopting any of these beliefs and cultures, but in this situation, these have been like social/spiritual drugs for black people, a temporary fix to a disease that needs a cure. Physiologically speaking, according to the laws of nature in regards to building life or causing death, the primary genetic culture and/or ethnicity is supposed to be the primary environment in which any people, plant, vegetable or fruit is supposed to grow and build upon for optimal life. Like with the plant. If a tree is genetically created to grow optimally in the Amazon, then uprooting it and placing it in a non-amazon environment, as its primary environment, will by natural law, cause it to either not grow optimally or grow in a weaker state, producing weaker seeds having a lesser nutritional value or die eventually altogether. In other words its original purpose is distorted. With humans, education, diet and social connections play a major role in human growth and optimal development. If you uproot a ethnic group from his culture and then give them a foreign form of education, social lifestyle and diet as their primary form, different from or in contradiction their original form, they will become weaker in their growth and development and many times produce highly destructive symptoms. Giving African American European Education, Social behaviours, dress, diets and customs as their primary form of lifestyle is the main reason they are producing the highest rate of genocidal symptoms as a people. Your mind is the seat to your health, stability and wellbeing and so a weaker mind and mental state opens doors to a weaker physiological constitution which produces more disease and imbalances. Yet a person from say Ghana, Nigeria, Saudi Arabia, China, Europe, Asia etc can come and partake of European Education, lifestyle and temporarily in diet and actually excel just as well as Europeans. Why? Because European Education, lifestyle and diet is secondary form, not primary, and so in their own roots and identity, they are able to build upon that, as connected people and flourish. This is called social and inter-cultural interaction. Theres nothing wrong with European Education in itself, but European education as a primary form of Education is designed for the optimal growth and development of Europeans. Ghanians have their own primary forms of education, lifestyle and diet for their own optimal growth and development as well as Asian, Middle Easterns etc... African Americans, being disconnected from their vaours roots, have no such primary forms of Education, social lifestyle and dietary means for their own optimal growth and development. That's why they are not able to Excel in the numbers as their European and other Nation counter parts. They must be connected back to their inherent genetic roots so that they can know themselves and have the nessary information to better understand bio-physical constitutions to began to be revived and once again flourish in who they are in all things...

If you actually pay attention to history and many global tribes and nations who once had a great history of being major advanced civilization, but who have been conquered and had their way of life replaced by those who conquered it, especially by global colonialism and Christian crusade., the spirit and way of life of those tribes and peoples were crushed and they live in some of the most poorest and destructive of conditions. They praise Jesus every day, not realizing that Jesus and colonial culture, dress, diet and social habits, as their primary form, is what has kept them in a state of weakness and destruction. Many imperialists know this truth, and they continue to use this truth to exploit peoples, tribes and ethnic cultures ignorance to keep them in a state of social enslavement through cultural alienation and foreign assimilation.

Recently I started to get a strong burning desire in my spirit to challenge Hebrew Israelites to now prove who they are..Originally I thought it was to humble them from what appears to be a major arrogance within their sect in regards to them thinking that they are soo true and everyone else being soo false... I thought I was to expose that they are just as false physically as those they accuse of being false Jews or Israelites physically. But then I realized in my efforts to challenge them, I was really hurting people instead of helping them, because I focused too much on who they were NOT, instead of helping them understand WHO THEY ARE.

After DNA tests and giving info on blood types and their relationship to different races, to certain people, I would see their demeanor drop, their expression become hopeless and their spirits break because of my focus in tearing them down from their only comfort zone, but leaving them out in the cold with nothing else. The same happened even when I challenged an Ashkenazi Jewish lady in Jacksonville on her ancestry being from Ashkenaz. She was hurt!! And Each time, I felt in my spirit, that yes I may have shared facts, but I was outside of what Elah wanted. I felt sorry and very regretful, because my heart deep down inside doesn't want to see anyone hurt or cry and many times I ended up having to counsel many of the people that I challenged. But I still didn't understand why I was to challenge people with DNA testings, especially if they wanted to share in the culture and heritage of Israel as physical descendants, since it was hurting them.

Then finally it became serious personally. I met a young lady, who had adopted black Hebrew culture and was trying to live it, in a disconnected way, for 8 years. As I got to know her our relationship grew until it got to the point of discussions of her being my 2nd wife. She wanted to be a Levite, because someone told her that was her tribe. And being that I am a Kohan and under Hebrew Law, I am only to take a Ishah who is from my own tribe, and that any woman not from my own tribe could only be a Palegeish(which just means foreign wife/concubine,yet has nothing to do with me loving her, in which I really do, or how she is treated)... So to make sure I knew what her racial and ethnic background really was, I made her take a DNA test through a company that seemed very impressive in really pin pointing Tribal connections throughout the world, leaving no room for doubt... She took the Test..we crossed our fingers, as I really didn't know what my response would be, as I really wanted to stay within my own tribe of people from the East. Is she Jewish-Israelite, or is she something else.? We finally get the results. It was Very detailed, very informative. She found who she was!!!. No, unfortunately, theres was zero connection to middle eastern, Mesopotamian or Asiatic ethnic groups or cultures, including those who could have migrated into Africa. Her Native origins showed she was from Namibia Bantu, a federation of tribes, but it showed also her specific tribe within the bantu and it showed how she possibly ended up in the USA, which was obviously through the slave trade, and what populations of African Americans she was related to their concentrations within the Continental US and some of the Islands .. It was amazing! But now, how does she feel, realising she is not a Levite, nor Hebrew at all? She admitted she was shocked! Probably disappointed, considering her seeing my open attitude towards the black Hebrews when I challenge them on DNA.

But then I felt this spirit come upon me and Elah said,

“This is why you are in the midst of the Black Hebrews and African Americans. I have sent you to them, not to tell them who they are not, that will be obvious through the Truth, but to lead them back to who they are, to each of their native tribes, no matter what tribe, what region, what ethnic group. I have sent you to be the one to bridge the gap, bring healing, tell them stories of their native peoples and lift them up out of their 500 years of disconnection and slavery. You are to speak to them, to help them to find their roots in themselves, from the natural blueprint I have placed within their souls, their blood and their biochemistry, called DNA. He said, do not let them be deceived in distrusting what he has given to humanity to help them solve so many mysteries and to help them solve the mysteries of who they are, where they come from and where they are going. He says, in this, I will lift them up and return them to their roots and there they will praise me and know that I am Yahwah Elah, the Eternal father and Mother who looks upon all nations and all peoples. They will know that I have not abandoned them, nor have I forsaken them. That this is the time of the Great restoration for the African American peoples. He also said, I will make them no longer ashamed, but they shall rejoice in who they really are, because I will give them the roots of foundation for them to build upon. I will bring them into the New Era and will restore them with dignity and they shall be joined to my people Israel , my chosen, to give praise unto my name. And in that, I will send even others to find the truth of the ancestry.

This is what Elah had been preparing me for all along, even during the rocky relationships over the past 10 years with these people, I felt a renewed calling and a desire to see them raised up. To see their anger and deep seated pain healed, to see them rebalanced and connected to life, to smile with new life and new hope in knowing the Truth of who they really are as Elah created them in their unique tribes. No, many will not be physical Israelites, but they will become upright(Hebrew Yisrael/Yasher’el) before Elah in their roots, in praise of Yahwah.

I was very emotional, my eyes swelled with tears, I knew this was the right thing to do. I am still here in their midst To lead the African American and Black Hebrews back to their Natural Roots and to help them build upon their rock the WAY of Elah. Satan will not and cannot stop this plan, as Yahwahs DNA cannot and will not lie nor fail them.

I Oath by the Throne of Yahwah and Chockmah and by the name of the Holy Malakim, that this is all the Truth I have spoken in his Day.

I have a New Hope, to give New Hope. For this is why I am sent in the midst of the lost Sheep of the African American and Black Hebrews. Selah
